

From the desk of Raffi

Dear Friend,

For me, there's nothing quite like being with children who are filled with joy... singing, laughing and sharing the beauty that life has to offer.

Children are more than our future — they are our present. How we share this “present” will determine the future we co-create, and the adults they become.

I founded the Child Honouring movement because, like you, I believe we must protect and honour our children.

This is why my heart aches when I see news reports about baby bottles that leach a chemical linked to breast cancer into a baby's formula. Or when I see warnings about dozens of children's toys that are contaminated with lead, a toxic metal that can leave children with lifelong learning disabilities. I'm saddened to hear that cancer among young children and teenagers is on the rise in Canada and many of those cancers are the result of exposure to pesticides and other toxic chemicals released into our environment. We know that the very young are the most vulnerable to these threats.

What gives me hope is that those exposures and many of the diseases associated with them are truly preventable. You and I have the power — and an opportunity — to create change.

Children have the right to live free from exposure to deadly toxins. They deserve the best start towards a healthy and happy life. That's why A Toxic Free Canada would be vital to creating a child-honouring society.

LEAS understands this. It's a driving force in their campaign for a Toxic Free Canada.

Won't you please join me in supporting LEAS today with a generous donation?

Together we'll detoxify our world, and honour our children.

Thank you!

Raffi
